Mara Santino

Mara has cultivated the careers of many young actors, including Chace Crawford and Haley Bennett. Most notably as an agent, Mara booked Brandon Routh in the title role of Superman Returns, and not only discovered, but developed the careers of three leading actors from the franchise box office phenomenon Twilight. As a Manager, Mara put a once unknown actor, Chord Overstreet, on one of Fox's top-rated shows, Glee, in the role of Sam Evans. She has put many of her clients in starring roles, from prime-time television to studio films, and has had much success placing children on Disney and Nickelodeon shows.
