Mara Santino

Mara has cultivated the careers of many young actors. Most notably as an agent, Mara booked Brandon Routh in the title role of Superman Returns. She not only discovered but developed the careers of the three leading actors from the franchise box office phenomenon Twilight, Chace Crawford (Gossip Girl), and many others.

She has put many of her clients in starring roles, from prime-time television to studio films, and has had much success placing children on Disney and Nickelodeon shows.

Clients include:

Anneliese Judge: Series regular on the Netflix series Sweet Magnolias
